San Diego Jewish Food Festival organizers have selected a poster made by Cal State San Marcos University graphic design student Tatianna Montoya to be the official poster of the April 22 event planned in Poway.

The festival's organizing committee invited art students at local universities and colleges to create a design that would be used for the marketing and advertising centerpiece of the festival's promotional campaign. Montoya received a cash award for her entry. She and three other finalists in the contests, along with their families, also will receive free entry to the event.

The festival will feature live music, food booths and cooking demonstrations from chefs from the Marine Room, Seersucker, Burlap, Urban Solace and more.

The event is scheduled for 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. April 22 at Temple Adat Shalom, 15905 Pomerado Road, Poway. Tickets will be available on the website www.sdjewishfoodfest.com.
